How could you think such a thing?

It's too bad that people must be told a frightened truth. Millions and millions of forest acres were destroyed last year, and 9 out of 10 forest fires were man-caused. Someone's carelessness—perhaps yours—was responsible for these man-caused fires. Be sure you're not guilty this year of a thoughtless act that might start a destructive forest fire. COUNTRY FLAVOR

DESSERTS FIRST

The countryman is an academic philosopher but he agrees with an unknown pedagogue who stated that logic is not among the more evident traits of homo sapiens. Horace A. (for Azubah) Winklerwhiffer, the countryman's friend and gardening rival, put it succinctly when he said that a capable man can easily rationalize his thinking to fit his inclination.

If logical cerebral processes governed human actions, we would eat desserts at the front end of meals when taste buds are keenest. In the "New England Farmer" of March, 1897, is an interesting article of W. A. Alcott, the famous New England writer and essayist. He has a character say to his wife, "Mrs. H., your pie will now be lost. We have all eaten enough; we don't want it now. Save your pies from time to time instead of eating them up when they are not needed. Before long you will have enough to make us a whole meal, when they will be of some real value. I love better to make a full meal of our pies than to be found mingling them with other ingredients at the same meal. It were better for health as well as economy."

and calmly. What is the sequel today? A man sets all he should of good meat, potatoes, vegetables and a salad. Then along comes a juicy, room-temperature, spicy, sweet rhubarb pie, or a delicious, heavily frosted chocolate cake, or possibly a sumptuous banana pudding.

No man can do justice to the situation. Furthermore, it is, as Mr. Alcott observed, perfectly possible to make a satisfying meal on a desert.

Any teen-age boy whose Mother operates an old-fashioned pantry can testify to that. We need another crusade—a crusade for deserts at the beginning of meals. We have the greatest respect for the accomplishments of the Women's Clubs of our nation, but could they not tackle a practical problem such as this instead of listening to some of the lecturers who dispense high-level culture or show pretty pictures?

a certain parcel of land situated in said Bethel on Grover Hill, as called, and being a part of a piece of land formerly owned by the late George A. Grover, and bounded as follows: beginning at a point on the road leading from the buildings on Cobble Stone farm, as known, westerly toward the site where the buildings formerly stood on the Milton Grover farm, as called, said point being on the northerly corner of land formerly of Winona Chapin, now or formerly of one Russell; thence westerly on said road forty rods to the angle or turn in said road where it turns and runs southerly toward and past the Harry Lyon farm, as known; thence continuing on said road to line of land now or formerly of said Lyon; thence on line of said Lyon land as it may run in a southerly or easterly direction to a point on the westerly line of said Chapin or Russell land, which point is forty rods easterly of said last named road on the easterly line thereof; thence southerly on the westerly line of said Chapin or Russell land to the point of beginning, said parcel being a strip of land sixty rods wide extending easterly from said road which runs to and past said Lyon farm.
